EDITORIAL POLICY

Language in Society is concerned with all branches of the study of speech and language as aspects of social life. Preference is given to contributions in which empirical findings are balanced with considerations of general theoretical or methodological interest. Contributions may vary from predominantly linguistic to predominantly social in content, but are expected to involve both poles of the journal's field of concern in some explicit way. In addition to original articles, the journal publishes reviews of current books, as well as notes and comments on points arising out of recent publications.
